

CADROTEX – sliding shutters with textile fabric

The elegant solar protection and privacy shield

Convenient and energy-saving

The CADROTEX sliding shutter with fabric canopy from EHRET provides a further option for façade design and not only enhances the feeling of comfort indoors but also ensures efficient heat regulation in the building. The transparent CADROTEX fabric allows sufficient natural light to pass through, while ensuring protection from prying eyes.

The weather-resistant and easy-care solution

The ingenious system prevents the capillary effect, which means that the textile fabric repels water and thereby retains its durable and easy-care properties. The fabric and the powder-coated aluminium frame are extremely weather-resistant and absolutely non-fading. CADROTEX can therefore be used without problems on all weather sides.

Rugged textile fabric

The textile fabric is made of high-strength, UV-resistant polyester fibres that resist wind, rain and sun. The special manufacturing method enables an elastic connection of the warp and weft threads to produce a fabric that has a unique tensile strength and dimensional stability.

Frame profile

The aluminium frame has a special design, which permanently holds the fabric in place in the frame profile under tension on all four sides. The frame is made of extruded aluminium and can be powder coated in RAL and NCS colours to match the textile fabric and the architecture.

Fabric textures and colours

CADROTEX enables the use of a wide variety of fineness grades for textile fabrics. The openwork fabric structure is thus the decisive factor in determining how much light enters the room, how transparent the fabric is from the outside, and also the degree of heat/cold absorption that is achieved. In this way, a wide range of applications is possible.
